HEAVY TOLL TAKEN IN THREE DISASTROUS TRAIN WRECKS

Passenger Trains Collide On Norfolk And Western And New York Central

ROANOKE, VA., October 20.—Three railmen were killed, five others injured and five or six passengers shaken up in head-on collision between two Norfolk & Western passenger trains early today at Rural Retreat, Va., according to an official announcement at the railway headquarters here today. The trains met on a siding.

The announcement said the switch on the passing siding had been left open and that the train bound from Bristol to New York took the siding instead of holding to the main track and crashed into the other train, which was bound from Roanoke to Bristol. No explanation of how the switch came to be left open was made in the announcement.

The dead are J. W. Linkous, of Roanoke, engineer, and Frank Beeler, of Bristol, fireman of the Roanoke-Bristol engineer of the Bristol-New York train.

ERIE, PA., October 20.—Seven persons are known to have been killed and at least 17 injured when a Chicago and Boston train on the New York Central Railroad sideswiped the Buffalo-Lackland train, west bound, at the west end of the Union Station here today. Four of the bodies taken from the wrecks are those of women. The Chicago and Boston express ran through an open switch not far from the station and sideswiped the train from Buffalo on its way west. The third day coach from the engine was overturned, and all the casualties are believed to have occurred there. Rescue forces were quickly at work and in a short time six bodies had been taken out.

The identified dead:

Gaspard Deschamps, Missoula, Mont. Also Carlson, aged 13. Sebeka, Minn.

Miss Rose Rodgers, Cincinnati, is among the injured.

Others injured were:

Gideon Carlson, Sebeka, Minn.

Mr. Gideon Carlson, Sebeka, Minn.

Bert Tolke, Brindell, Ia.

Mrs. Jack Hanson and infant son, Seattle, Washington.

Mrs. J. G. Seacord, Chicago.

Alma Forness, Sweden.

George W. Andrus, Buffalo.

Mrs. Findlay Woods, Gallatin, Ill.

Walter W. Richardson, New York City.

Ida C. Myers, Chicago.

Mrs. C. C. Slagg, Mark, Ind.

Parts of another body, rescue workers said, were in plain sight. The dead in some instances were badly mangled. Fifteen of the injured were removed to hospitals, some of them physicians stated, so badly hurt that their recovery was problematical. So far as could be learned none of the passengers on the east bound train were hurt.

The body of a baby was recovered from the wrecked car.

Reports to railroad men were that a party of signal repairmen working at the station had become confused when they saw the two passenger trains coming from opposite directions, and one of them was throwing a switch when the train from Buffalo rushed by. The instant the crash came, one of the dead was believed to be a signal man.

CLEVELAND, O., October 20.—Fifteen persons were injured, several seriously and at least two fatally, when a Wheeling and Lake Erie passenger train No. 31, crashed into a switch engine and caboose near Huron Avenue and East 10th street this morning.

The injured are in St. Alexius, St. Luke and Charity Hospitals.

Two of those hurt suffered internal injuries and it is feared they will die.

Others suffered fractured legs and severe cuts and bruises about the head, arm and body.

Among the injured are the following:

Mr. T. J. Malone, Kent, face cut and

Poland And Lithuania Near War's Brink

WARSAW, October 20.—(By the Associated Press)—Relations between Poland and Lithuania are becoming more strained, according to advice of M. Kamenicki, Polish minister to Latvia, who has been attending the conference of Baltic states at Riga, on the eve of the return to Paris of the League of Nations' commission, which has been attempting to reach a solution of questions arising between Poland and Lithuania. Threats have been made by the latter nation to intern all Poles as a reprisal for the occupation of Vilna by General Zeligowski's army. As a consequence, many Poles are leaving for their native country.

Lithuania, according to M. Kamenicki, is determined to oppose Poland in every way possible. A Lithuanian army says a dispatch from Grodno, is being mobilized, men up to the age of 45 being called to the colors. German officers are acting as instructors, it is said.

DEFEAT OF PET IN GREAT MATCH RACE GRIEVES PRETTY DAUGHTER OF OWNER

Perhaps the most ardent admirer of Sir Barton, famous thoroughbred, is Miss Hylda Ross, daughter of the horse's owner, Commander J. R. L. Ross. She has made the great racer her pet. Consequently Sir Barton's recent defeat by Man o' War in the $15,000 match race at Windsor, Canada, was a great disappointment to her.

Real Issue Of Campaign Is Approval Or Disapproval Of Wilson Regime, Says Taft

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright 1920)

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 20.—William Howard Taft in his first political speech in this campaign gave to his audience here a lengthy explanation of why he has not joined with other pro-League of Nations Republicans in supporting Governor Cox and the Monroe Doctrine program but why he confidently believes the election of Senator Harding will mean America's entrance into the present League of Nations. Here is an excerpt from a stenographic copy of the address:

"Mr. Harding's attitude upon the League has been this: 'That in an earnest desire to help the other nations he was willing to vote for the League with Republican reservations and he did so twice, in anticipation of executive responsibility, however, and in future he does not wish to submit the Wilson League to the Senate. He prefers to negotiate with the leading powers now in the League to revise and amend the League by agreement with these powers before submitting the matter to the Senate. In his speech of August 28 and in his speeches at Indianapolis and Greenfield, Indiana, this last week he has made it clear that this country should help in an association to avoid war and that he is willing to bring about a modified or revised League avoiding those features of the Wilson League to which he has made objection. (Continued on Page Eight.)

League should center around a Court of Justice, and Mr. Root's international Court of Justice furnishes a basis for his proposal.

"Expressions that Mr. Harding has 'scrapped' the League or 'repudiated' it are grossly unfair expressions.

He has vigorously opposed Article X and the Monroe Doctrine program but he has not repudiated its other provisions and purposes. All inference that he is opposed to any League or operating from a stenographic copy of the address:

"The League, keenly interested in batteing averages, but more devoted to the game of marbles when played for keeps, 12 year old Edward Robbie Hardy Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Robbie Hardy of this city, today qualified at the youngest freshman that ever entered Columbia University.

The youthful prodigy is five feet three inches in height, weighs 125 pounds, and his mother said, is perfectly normal in appetite, habits and recreations. He spends a great deal of time in the university swimming pool, when not engaged in reading Babylonian tablets, investigating the fourth dimension or delving into other erudite subjects.

Edward started to school at the age of three and bounded over three classes a year, graduating from high school at 14. His popularity and modesty were proved by the fact that he was elected editor of his school newspaper and was a leader in school social activities.

He do little to combat him. Hazard trapping and poisoning are not effective. The war against them must be systematic, organized, scientific.

The Department of Agriculture has made an exhaustive study of this subject and has printed the results in a 24-page booklet with illustrations.

BOTH SIDES EAGER TO END BRITISH STRIKE

LONDON, Oct. 20.—Negotiations which may settle the strike of British miners were today believed to be as suited. Government officials and labor leaders who outlined their positions before the opening session of parliament have shown their desire to reach an understanding. Belief was general today that proposals were in preparation by both sides.

Premier Lloyd George has definitely declared he is ready to enter into negotiations, but he has laid emphasis on the fact that the government wants a final settlement of the differences, which brought about a cessation of work in British mines last Saturday.

He has stated plainly for a tentative wage increase, pending a complete adjustment, would not be satisfactory as that method of meeting the present situation would threaten trouble later.

The Transport Workers Union has not taken definite action on the situation yet, but there is some apprehension that it may join forces with the coal diggers.

The London branch of the Commercial Road Transport Workers Union has already voted to strike out of

sympathy with the miners, but the strike order was held up until after

today's meeting of that body. A walk out of this union would involve upwards 150,000 men in various parts of England. Further curtailment of shipping services is impending.

ARTICLE TEN OBJECTIONABLE; WILSON WRECKED OWN LEAGUE, SAYS ROOT

NEW YORK, Oct. 20—Elihu Root, out of respect, I do question Mr. Wilson's infidelity, I do question the complete control of abstract justice in the processes by which the four men dictated those treaties, which intended to make over eastern Europe, he told their conclusions.

"I have an impression that there was the accommodation of conflicting interests, the giving of something here to get something there; the yielding of some things in order to avoid losing others; the shading of justice by expedience which has characterized such conferences since history began. I have a strong impression that some of their conclusions were mistakes."

JOSEPH S. DISTEL

Democratic candidate for sheriff of Scioto County at the general election to be held on Tuesday, November 2. If elected sheriff the people will have an officer who will be humane in his treatment of the prisoners who may be in his charge. And relatives and friends of the unfortunate can always rest assured that they themselves will be shown every courtesy and consideration.

ALL EYE STRAIN SHOULD GET ATTENTION.

There is no such thing as eye strain that is slight enough to be neglected. Any error of refraction that is important enough to produce eye strain is important enough to demand correction. And here is another point—nothing is gained by putting it off from time to time. In cases of eye strain DO IT NOW should be the practice. We correct all degrees of eye strain with glasses.

Skin Diseases Not On the Surface

Must Be Treated at Their Source

The mistake that is so generally made in treating diseases of the skin is a very common one, but it is also very expensive to the sufferer.

What are popularly known as skin diseases, are not in reality skin diseases at all. The surface of the skin is the seat of the attack, but the source is deep-seated.

What, then, is this mistake, that the average person afflicted with skin disorders, makes in his effort for relief? And why is it that the error is so general?

In the first place, eczema, tetter, sealy eruptions and other irritations of the skin are exceedingly annoying, and in many cases, the itching and burning become intensely torturing. Often the victim is kept awake at night scratching and rubbing the burning skin in an effort to get some relief.

Because what he sees and feels of his affliction is on the surface, he is misled into the error of believing that all treatment should be directed toward the location of the pain and discomfort. Then, too, because of the intensity of the suffering, he is willing to try almost anything that he thinks will afford some measure of relief, no matter how slight.

This leads him headlong into the mistake that is so general—the one that really prolongs his suffering by keeping him away from the one that really relieves him.

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, marriage, troubled, woe, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Miss Wise I am coming to you for advice. I am 20 years old and in love with a boy the same age. He has been coming to see me for some time, but never tells me what he is doing. When he is with me he acts like he loves me, but when he is with other boys and sees me he acts like he doesn't know who I am. Now I think a lot of him and hate to give him up but don't want any snub like that around. Give me your advice.

LITTLE JIMMY.

When the young man calls without letting you know he is coming don't be at home, at least not to him. It seems to me his indifference can only give you pain, and it would therefore be better for you to give him up entirely than to be ready to receive such attentions as he gives you when no one else is around or when his mood demands you. For him not to meet you when you need to be on the street is a downright insult; after such treatment I couldn't bear him with a field glass. I hope you can either.

Dear Miss Wise—Please advise me as to what you consider a suitable gift (Christmas presents) to give a girl friend to whom you are not engaged. I have been keeping company with this lady for several months and we have become very much attached to each other, and as Christmas is rapidly approaching, I have begun to worry about what to get her as a gift. I will appreciate your suggestion.

FOLLY MAN.

Your question was answered in last night's paper. Perhaps you had better wait awhile. If things develop as rapidly within the next few months as they have during the past few, you will be attached to each other for life before Christmas.

Dear Dolly—Please allow me space in your column to say a word in regards to the girl who says she is in love with a married man. I cannot understand how a girl with good common sense could lower herself so much as to accept attention from a married man, and then to be so bold as to write to you concerning it. Looks to me as if she wants the wife of this man to see it. No doubt she is the one who has panted at him time. Can she not see that this man loves his wife more than her, and she would not have taken her back. And she ought to know he is seeking to ruin her life and character. I hope the wife will not allow the like of her to come between them and ruin her and her husband's life like she is ruining her own. There are too many single men to receive attention from a married man. Should a married woman show me more attention than a friend I would consider it a high insult, as I consider my character too great to allow a married man to make love to me. I do not understand why girls do not open their eyes and understand men, and who will allow a girl who is not fit for his wife to associate with to come in and ruin his home. I hope to see this in print.

Dear Dolly—I saw in Sunday's paper where two girls wanted to correspond with some cow boy. Now Dolly I am a cowboy and come from my father's ranch in Idaho, but at present am in the army and stationed at Camp Dix, New Jersey. I am now in Portsmouth on a furlough and would like to hear from any girls interested in cowboy as I will be out of the army in five months and am then going back to the ranch and take up the life of a cowboy. If any girl wants my address please give it to them.

COWBOY SOLDIER.

Dear Dolly—Would you please print a recipe for marble cake and visages? A READER.

Marble Cake—(Light Part)—1-1/2 cups white sugar, 3-1/2 cup sweet milk, 1-1/2 cupfuls soda, 1-1/2 cup of butter, 1-1/2 teaspoon cream tartar, whites of four eggs, 2-1/2 cups sifted flour, with the rising, 1-1/2 teaspoon lemon of vanilla flavoring.

Dark Part—1 cup brown sugar, 1-1/2 cup butter, 1-1/2 cup molasses, 1-1/2 cup sour milk, 2-1/2 cupfuls flour sifted with 1-1/2 teaspoon soda, 3-1/2 teaspoon cream tartar, whites of four eggs, 2-1/2 cups sifted flour, with the rising, 1-1/2 teaspoon lemon of vanilla flavoring.

Vinegar Pie—The crust—1-1/2 cups good vinegar, 2 cups sugar, 1 cup water, 1 tablespoon butter, flavor with lemon extract. Put in stew pan on stove. While this is heating take five yolks of eggs beaten with one cup of water and two heaping tablespoons of flour. When the vinegar comes to a boil put in the eggs and flour, stirring until well cooked. Have four pie tins lined with pastry, fill with the mixture and bake. Beat the whites of the eggs to a stiff froth with four tablespoons of white sugar. When the pies are done spread this over and return to the oven for few minutes. These pies can be baked in two crusts, by using four eggs, whites and yolks, both, and covering with an upper crust. The rule will make ten pies. Take half this receipt for two pies.

Saw Daylight and

While Bedfast, Felt Dawn of Hope in Her Sap; In

Do Housework

"I was almost despondent and you would be, too, if you had suffered with stomach and kidney trouble for the past five years as I have. I kept up just as long as I could and tried to convince myself that it was purely imagination, but finally I had to give up and go to bed," says Mrs. Ethra Hendrix, 22 Madison street, Louisville, Ky.

She was forced to stay in bed, too, for over five weeks straight, with pains that were often unbearable. I tried lots of medicines and remedies but nothing helped me out but I tried to sit up, but couldn't. I was so weak and worn out, finally I made up my mind that something had to be done, so I took a blanket to a nearby park. I heard a high Sap advertised in the papers. I actually saw daylight and a new life ahead of me, because my own common sense convinced me that there was something properly prepared and blended would relieve all ailments. I knew that nature had provided for these things and if I had. She was right. I finally found the proper medicine. So I sent my husband to the drug store and he brought me home a bottle. I took it according to directions. It was a good medicine. It was made from pure herbs and although I can not much of a hand to brag or exaggerate, I must say that it was out of bed in 24 hours and in 10 days I was strong again and felt like a new woman, not one more in perfect health. I want others to know about this good medicine and for this reason I gladly give this statement for publication. I hope everyone will be in the need of a good tonic for building them up and increasing their appetite, vim, vigor and nerve force will resort to this.

Her Sap is now sold at Fisher & Stroh's Pharmacy and all good drug stores in surrounding territory. Have your favorite druggist get it for you if he is out of it—Adv.

Mrs. Hubert Seeks Alimony

Emma Hubert, colored, 1019 Flushing street, alleges neglect in her suit for alimony filed in Common Pleas court Wednesday against Enoch W. Hubert, well known colored physician. Through Attorneys Bannon and Bannon the plaintiff complains during a part of their married life the defendant has only provided a portion of their breakfast meal, leaving her to provide the other two meals and declares he has failed to support her although amply able to do so by reason of revenue derived from real estate he owns in this city and in the state of Delaware and personal earnings as a physician.

Furthermore she says he occupies her home with his office and asserts he even refused to pay any rent besides she charges, he retained half of the money recently when she sent him after $410 she had borrowed to pay for repairs on her property. She asks that the defendant be enjoined from occupying the property until and unless he maintains it. They were married June 22, 1900.

100,000 Died from Bright's Disease and Other Kidney Troubles During the Past Year

Insurance Company Official Said "99 Per Cent of These Deaths Could Have Been Avoided"

The increase in fatalities from Bright's Disease and other kidney ailments is causing grave concern to health authorities. A leading life insurance Co. states that 99 per cent of the fatalities could have been avoided or postponed had the proper preventative measures been taken.

Thousands of people who have kidney trouble do not know it. They do not realize the important part the kidneys play in our daily life. If the kidneys fail to act as nature intended, good health is impossible as the kidneys created daily are retained in the system, which cause backaches, constipation and many other distressing ills. To avert serious kidney illnesses, N. Y.

"I wish to be a real democrat in spirit. I wish to play the game of government as its rules are contained in the Constitution of the United States. I feel, therefore, that though I favored the Wilson League and hoped that it might be ratified, and favored Article X and hoped it might esteem elimination, when I found that it could not be ratified, I urged as strongly as I could the acceptance of the reservations offered by the Republicans in November 1919, and in February, 1920. I felt that President Wilson made himself the proper subject of the severest criticism. In not being willing to accept a compromise which the Senate had a right to offer him.

By insisting on Article X, he has destroyed his league and Mr. Cox proposes to do the same thing.

The only possible hope of making progress toward a League of Nations to secure peace is by the election of Mr. Harding. The present election is not a referendum the result of which will determine whether the American people are in favor of Mr. Wilson's League or not.

The issue of this campaign is whether we shall approve the Wilson Administration. From my observation, and I have had great opportunity in every part of the country, I believe that the majority of the American people were in favor of Mr. Wilson's accepting the reservations and entering the League. I believe further that a majority of the American people are against Article X, and I think this, although I favored Article X and would have been glad to see it ratified. The question is what can be done under the rules of the game, that is, under constitutional provisions, to bring the United States into an arrangement with other nations to prevent war. It seems to me clear that in the existing situation, Mr. Harding's election is the only means of securing this.

Other parts of Mr. Taft's speech were intensely interesting in that they denounced Mr. Wilson's attitude to his counsellors even during the war. Mr. Taft said public opinion alone forced the President to select able men to make America effective in its war organization.

"The issue," said Mr. Taft, "which the American people are going to vote upon in this election, no matter what Mr. Cox wishes, Mr. Wilson wishes or Mr. Harding wishes, is whether they approve the Administration of Mr. Wilson. Mr. Wilson is a man of exceptional ability and of still more exceptional personality and he has stamped that personality upon his Administration so completely that he is

"It is impossible therefore to talk in this campaign without talking of Mr. Wilson. He loves the exercise of power and is morbidly sensitive in any attempt, real or fancied, by anyone, whether Congressman, Senator or prominent Democrat to interfere with his control."

The former President said that Mr. Wilson's jealousy for power and refusal to tolerate it could alone explain the dismissal of Secretary Lansing.

"I did not object," added Mr. Taft, "to his going over to Europe. Indeed, I thought it would educate him, at least, in the world's law as it calmed the necessity of appointing able men on the commission to assist him in that regard."

Mr. Taft paid his respects to Governor Cox saying he had "outstanding experience as Governor of Ohio and has shown himself a shrewd and active politician who has saved himself from defeat because of his affiliation with the higher groups in the League issue alone."

Condemning Governor Cox for refusing to summon the militia when Cincinnati "was so much at the mercy of street railway rioters," the former President called the Democratic nomi-

The former President said that Mr. Wilson's jealousy for power and refusal to tolerate it could alone explain the dismissal of Secretary Lansing.

"I did not object," added Mr. Taft, "to his going over to Europe. Indeed, I thought it would educate him, at least, in the world's law as it calmed the necessity of appointing able men on the commission to assist him in that regard."

Mr. Taft paid his respects to Governor Cox saying he had "outstanding experience as Governor of Ohio and has shown himself a shrewd and active politician who has saved himself from defeat because of his affiliation with the higher groups in the League issue alone."

Condemning Governor Cox for refusing to summon the militia when Cincinnati "was so much at the mercy of street railway rioters," the former President called the Democratic nomination a "temporizer with mali-cence."

The only possible hope of making progress toward a League of Nations to secure peace is by the election of Mr. Harding. The present election is not a referendum the result of which will determine whether the American people are in favor of Mr. Wilson's League or not.

The issue of this campaign is whether we shall approve the Wilson Administration. From my observation, and I have had great opportunity in every part of the country, I believe that the majority of the American people were in favor of Mr. Wilson's accepting the reservations and entering the League. I believe further that a majority of the American people are against Article X, and I think this, although I favored Article X and would have been glad to see it ratified. The question is what can be done under the rules of the game, that is, under constitutional provisions, to bring the United States into an arrangement with other nations to prevent war. It seems to me clear that in the existing situation, Mr. Harding's election is the only means of securing this.

Other parts of Mr. Taft's speech were intensely interesting in that they denounced Mr. Wilson's attitude to his counsellors even during the war.

REPUBLICANS SWARM INTO JACKSON FOR RALLY

Scioto County Sends Her Share Of Monster Crowd To Celebration

(By H. W. August)

JACKSON, O., October 20.—At three o'clock this afternoon it was estimated that more than fifty thousand visitors were in Jackson, of whom at least forty thousand were crowded about the speakers' stand on the outskirts of the city to listen to Senator Harding, and the other speakers who are discussing the campaign issues. It was stated officially that 26,000 tickets were sold in Jackson by the D. T. & I., B. & O., and the Hocking Valley railroads. At ten o'clock this morning, 4,000 automobiles had been checked, and the thousand mark was passed soon afterward. The total number of automobiles is estimated at around 6,000.

Senator Harding and his party arrived at the scene about two o'clock. When the crowd caught sight of their leader they began a tumult of applause that probably set a new mark of enthusiasm for the Republican campaign. The cheering lasted almost twenty minutes, and the scene will never be forgotten by those who participated in it, or witnessed it.

As he stepped on the speakers' stand, Senator Harding stopped for a minute to greet an old soldier, and stood talking to him while the crowd cheered.

James Jones, of Jackson, presided over the meeting.

One of the first speakers of the day was Commodore G. W. C. Perry, editor of the Chillicothe Gazette. He urged all to cast their votes for the Republican nominees.

Congressman A. E. B. Stephens, of Cincinnati, paid an eloquent tribute to Lincoln, and said Harding was following in the footsteps of such illustrious men as Lincoln and other great Republican leaders.

Mrs. Florence Goss, of the executive committee, of Hamilton county, urged the women to support the Republican party.

There were calls from the stage for Arthur and Henry Burman and Judge Blair of Portsmouth, to speak, but they could not be located in the immense throng.

Promoters of the big rally are enthusiastic over its success, and say that it has come up to the highest anticipations in every respect.

Among those in Senator Harding's party are Frank B. Willis, Congressman and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, and ex-Governor Myron T. Herrick.

(By H. W. August)

JACKSON, OHIO, October 20.—The population of this little city, 6,000 odd, was suddenly swelled today to the number of 50,000 by virtue of the coming of thousands of people from over Ohio and neighboring states to attend the big Harding Day celebration, featured by an old fashioned barbecue and speeches by Senator Harding and Frank B. Willis, Republican candidate for president and United States senator, respectively.

In thousands of people present came via automobile, carriage and railroad. The entire population of the city and surrounding district seemed to be present. The city is little but a mass of struggling humanity moving to and fro on the huge grounds on the outskirts of the city, here today, according to estimates of the celebration is being held, officials of the celebration. Numerous bands aided in the entertainment and the famous Columbus Republican Glee Club sang during the day.

Delegates from districts throughout the state are present including representatives of Executive Committees from many cities. A large delegation from Athens and vicinity was present from Akron and Company, Chicago, through the Portsmouth agents, was served as sandwiches.

Local restaurants and taverns had the biggest business rash they have experienced in their history. Cal Crim and a force of men representing the Cal Crim Detective Agency, with the aid of local police, are on the grounds and on the lookout for the interests of the people and to watch carefully for criminals and confidence men seeking to defraud or rob the city and surrounding districts.

Twenty counties are represented. Twenty counties are represented here today, according to estimates of the celebration is being held, officials of the celebration. Numerous bands aided in the entertainment and the famous Columbus Republican Glee Club sang during the day.

Delegates from districts throughout the state are present including representatives of Executive Committees from many cities. A large delegation from Athens and vicinity was present from Akron and Company, Chicago, through the Portsmouth agents, was served as sandwiches.

The thousands of people present make up an enthusiastic crowd that is entering fully into the spirit of the celebration. As one man present remarked, "Democrats are scarcer than snowballs in hell." The crowd was decidedly Republican and their enthusiasm was not in the least dampened by the rumors of an increase in the strength of the Democratic party.

D—Billy Franey in "The Clutton." The ever-increasing number of motion picture fans to whom May Allison's every re-appearance is no event will have the opportunity tonight at

The Eastland Theatre to see the golden-haired star enact a part unusual even in the long list of her successes: that of Mary Manchester, heroine of George Kibee Turner's magazine story, previously printed in The Red Book Magazine.

Since "Fair and Warmer" and later "The Walk-Offs," Miss Allison has done one character calling for emotional expression—that of Vashli, the healer, in "The Cheater"; and so ingeniously well was this departure from her thitherto lighter mirths of expression received that she has essayed the difficult task of making the young little Mary Manchester actually tire.

The story, according to advance information, revolves about the conspiracy of two unscrupulous bankers to retain possession of a rich young widow's fortune. When she dies they engage a young girl who resembles her closely, to impersonate the woman whose name they still seek to hold in trust.

A comedy and news reel are the added attractions on this good program.

DENIES HE WILL MANAGE YANKEES

SCRANTON, PENN., October 20.—Bobby Jennings, former manager of the Federal American League Baseball team, who returned here today, denies that he is to manage the New York Americans next year. "I have not quit baseball for good and the coming season will in all probability find me back on the major leagues, one in the American League and the other in the National," he added.

He expects to spend the winter in Europe, continuing his practice of for a conference, but nothing certain will be known until early next week.

Mr. Jennings made definite announcement that he has been offered a position with the "Bulldog" is not likely to stage another spectacle like that at Princeton stadium, Princeton, last year when the Tiger was beaten 25-0, still the eleven which bears the name of the "Mammothines" this fall is far from a weakling outfit and it "had

Red And Blue Getting Ready For Fairmont Team

CHARLESTON, Oct. 20.—The Red and Blue failed to show up the practice of the Red and Blue squad yesterday and the high school crew kept working at the same old place in little park, with Coach Wilson doing the driving from the side lines. It seemed that the day of Monday was a good thing for the big family. The players went through their work with a zip and zip did show more zip than at any other time this year.

Ironton's Registration

IRONTON, O., October 20.—A total of 5,000 voters were registered in the city of Ironton for the general election to be held on Tuesday, November 2, it was announced by officials of the election board last night, after a compilation of the figures submitted by the registrars in the various precincts.

It is believed that the total male vote in Ironton will not run much over 2,000 and therefore, it is apparent that the vote of the newly enfranchised group will be quite heavy.

AN EXCEPTION TO THE RULE

PORTLAND, Oregon, must be a remarkable and a peculiar city. Not in common with its sister cities is it, crying bankruptcy, unless more revenues are devised, but it is actually reducing its debt, cutting it down somewhere about a million a year.

No, Portland isn't a dead one, it even hasn't stopped growing. Indeed, to the contrary it is developing quite rapidly, almost as fast as Portsmouth, its gain in population for the decade being 24 per cent and entitling it to rank as a metropolis, it now having a population of over two hundred and fifty thousand.

Its public improvements are keeping step with its progress otherwise and it has fine streets and all the other utilities of municipal requirements.

There ought to be no patent, or privacy on its operation and it should give other municipalities full explanation thereof. They certainly stand in sad need of instruction.

ALL TAKE HER DUST

ACCORDING to a statement, issued by the treasury department, Ohio leads all the states in the sale of war savings stamps.

In truth, Ohio leads therein any two states, her sales for the first eight months of the year being eight million dollars and more than New York and Pennsylvania, the two largest states, combined.

Such a comparison shows the thrift and intelligence of Ohio people. The indisputable fact is that there is no other public security so desirable to the average investor as war savings stamps. For besides being as safe they have the additional and, at times exceedingly fortunate feature of being convertible into cash at once, they draw interest from the time they are bought provided the first of a month intervenes between purchase and redemption.

It is a proud distinction for Ohio that her people show so much better appreciation of these securities than do those of any other state, but at the same time Ohio does not invest in them as she should. The sales ought to be double and even ten fold what they are. If they were Ohio would ground her future comfort on a basis that would mock at panics and hard times.

The man who has a wife who knows how to cook and who gives evidence of being able to vote sensibly should have no complaint.

Perhaps when Europe settles down to work all along the line the people will have more appreciation of the beauties of peace.

Any gallant husband will accompany his wife to the voting booth, but that does not give him any right to say how she shall vote.

A man is remarkably similar to a nail—he may be sharp, but unless he has a dependable head he is quite sure to fail in an emergency.

At this season a lot more attention is being paid to the football qualifications of college students than to their promises of scholarship.

Perhaps those folks who want to ride to the moon on that projected rocket think that the expedition is to be in search of moonshine.

Nobody seems to be doing any worrying over the passing of the buggy whip industry.

A "sinister influence" is an intangible thing exercised in the opposition party.

It is noticed that more persons are swearing at the government than are sweating for it.

Dels does his political talking through prison bars, but some other candidates talk through their hats.

There usually comes a time in a man's life when he regrets that he was in a hurry to start shaving.

There may be queens of fashion all right, but the king bees are the ones who are getting stung for the cost.

A young man may not be given much to saying, but he usually takes an interest in gathering in waist places.

The late fall hats will be blooming in their glory by election day.

The fruits of the victory won by our heroic forces in the field are nailed down by a dictated peace. Stand by it.

POLLY AND HER PALS

LOUIE THE LAWYER

A stranger is apt to spot such exotic samples in the crowd and set them down as typical Boston, just as the spectacled highbrow, both masculine and feminine, and the mild and absent-minded college professor with white hair and streaming coat tails have been advertised to the world as the "types" to be found everywhere in Boston. It is not a romantic fact, but the lumbering Bostonian, who regulates the streets in thousands, is scarcely to be distinguished from the native or any other large city, except perhaps for his unusually neat appearance. His hair and his accent, and even the famous accent seems only slightly obtrusive to the visitor previously regaled with overdrawn imitations by his friends at home.

A. The man who is leading the 1,000,000 coal miners of Great Britain, now on strike, has been a prominent British laborer for thirty-five years. His title is president of the Miner's Federation of Great Britain. He has been president, also, of the Scottish Miner's Federation since 1904.

Q. What is the origin of the term "shin-plaster" as applied to Civil War currency, as originally said to have been applied to the depreciated continental currency. During the war, people resorted to passing stamps and private notes; the latter representing 10, 25 and 50 cents, were of little value beyond the particular locality where they were issued, except as "plasters for broken shins," hence their name "shin-plaster."

RUMOR GREEK KING DIES OF MONKEYBITE

PARIS, October 20.—Confirmation of rumors of the death of King Alexander of Greece had not been received at the Greek legation here this morning.

The Mid-pointed today under a Rome date line, a dispatch saying the Greek Steamer Athenaea, anchored at Brindisi, had received from Athens a wireless dispatch announcing the death of the king, adding the Greek government was awaiting a reply from Prince Paul, brother of the king, who is reported to have been offered the throne, before publishing the news.

Cox Campaigns In States Of New England

PROVIDENCE, R. I., October 20.—Governor Cox of Ohio today continued his New England campaign with the League of Nations as his principal slogan under a hard schedule extending through Rhode Island, Massachusetts and Connecticut.

Following up his attack upon Senator Lodge in Boston last night, the Democratic presidential candidate was reported today to end the long up-and-down Republican supporters of Senator Harding. Here, where there is a large population of Irish blood, and in other places today, the Irish question was prominent among the government's subjects.

In Connecticut, where he made his first visit August 27, last, Governor Cox planned to urge defeat of Senator Harding, the Republican candidate, who signed the "round robin", and has also been persistent in the anti-league cause.

Following his address here, Governor Cox had rear platform speeches scheduled today at Blackstone, Mass.; Wilmington, Manchester, New Britain and Bristol, Conn., and more extended stops at Hartford, Waterbury and Bridgeport, the latter for a night meeting.

Mr. Root, however, was not willing. He insisted upon the treaty absolutely unchanged." Mr. Root said, adding later on in his speech:

"I do not question Mr. Wilson's beliefs that the disposition of the treaty for which he was contending on May 31, 1919, were just and fair; but, without disrespect, I do question Mr. Wilson's infallibility. I do question the complete control of alien justice in the processes by which the four men who dictated those treaties, which undertook to make over eastern Europe, reached their conclusions."

"I have an impression that there was the accompaniment of conflicting interests, the giving of something here to get something there; the yielding of some things in order to avoid troubling others; the shading of justice by

COX HAS FALLEN INTO HIS OWN TRAP, SAYS HARDING LEADER

MARION, Oct. 20.—Another chapter today was added to the controversy between President Wilson and Senator Harding regarding informal representations being made to the Republican candidate for the United States to assume leadership in a world fraternity.

"In a statement issued by Judson C. Welver, director of publicity at Harding headquarters, explicit denial is given to "plant" De Kobra on the Republican candidate when the latter was in Indianapolis on his last speaking trip. Fall into Trap

"Governor Cox has fallen into a neat little trap that has been set for Senator Harding. Senator Harding never saw De Kobra and never heard of him, until today. The fact about this pleasant little conspiracy are hardly view point on international matters, was now desirous of an interview with Senator Harding in order that he might present the Republican side of the matter. He was very insistent upon seeing Senator Harding and when this immediately I finally told him it was impossible.

Denied Interview

"As already stated Mr. De Kobra was denied any interview with Senator Harding, and Senator Harding never heard of the gentleman until attention was called today to Governor Cox's speech."

"The incident is peculiarly illustrating as to the methods of the Democratic campaign but the joke is on Governor Cox, who has thus exposed the cheap methods his campaign is employing."

ARTICLE TEN OBJECTIONABLE; WILSON WRECKED OWN LEAGUE, SAYS ROOT

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Elihu Root, in his only address on the League of Nations during the presidential campaign last night declared that the treaty of peace with Germany would have been ratified, and America would have been a member of the League—if President Wilson "had been willing."

"Mr. Wilson, however, was not willing. He insisted upon the treaty absolutely unchanged." Mr. Root said, adding later on in his speech:

"I do not question Mr. Wilson's beliefs that the disposition of the treaty for which he was contending on May 31, 1919, were just and fair; but, without disrespect, I do question Mr. Wilson's infallibility. I do question the complete control of alien justice in the processes by which the four men who dictated those treaties, which undertook to make over eastern Europe, reached their conclusions."

"I have an impression that there was the accompaniment of conflicting interests, the giving of something here to get something there; the yielding of some things in order to avoid troubling others; the shading of justice by expediency which has characterized such conferences since history began. I have a strong impression that some of their conclusions were mistakes.

"That is a part of what Article X undertakes to do. It is an alliance to force perpetually through the operations of the League the decisions of Mr. Wilson and his associates in the year 1919. It is throwback to the old discarded alliances of the past.

BOTH SIDES EAGER TO END BRITISH STRIKE

LONDON, Oct. 20.—Negotiations which may settle the strike of British miners were today believed to be assured. Government officials and labor leaders who outlined their positions before the opening session of parliament have shown their desire to reach an understanding. Belief was general today that proposals were in preparation by both sides.

Premier Lloyd George has definitely declared he is ready to enter into negotiations, but he has laid emphasis on the fact that the government wants a final settlement of the differences which brought about a cessation of work in British mines last Saturday. He has stated plans for a tentative wage increase, pending a complete adjustment, would not be satisfactory as that method of meeting the present situation would threaten trouble later. Coal production, he holds, must be augmented, and he may submit some proposals which will deal with this phase of the situation.

This morning's newspapers comment approvingly on the calm and dignified tone yesterday in the House of Commons, and the absence of provocative words. This fact is regarded as a good omen.

One possible basis for a settlement is set forth by the Daily Mail which says if the miners are willing definitely to agree that no advance of two shillings given time may be withdrawn at the end of December, if production is not increased by that time, the government will consider such a proposal.

The government, however, will insist upon its position regarding production, the newspaper says.

One of the strongest rumors relative to a possible settlement comes from the South Wales coal field, which has been recognized as the main center of disaffection and extremism. A Cardiff dispatch to the London Times says it is stated there the end of the deadlock is reached in three or four days. The Transport Workers Union has not taken definite action on the situation as yet, but there is some apprehension that it may join forces with the coal diggers.

The London branch of the Commercial Road Transport Workers Union

has already voted to strike out of

sympathy with the miners, but the

strike order was held up until after

today's meeting of that body. A walk out of this union would involve upwards of 150,000 men to various parts of England. Further enrollment of Shipping services is imperative.

Boston Streets

By Frederic J. Haskin

BOSTON, MASS., October 20.—Boston City officials are working on a plan to cut a straight, broad artery through the network of crowded streets to the western part of the business district.

This would not ordinarily be a statement to cause any great excitement, for in the course of its history Boston has, at various times, proposed, no less than one hundred proposals to simplify the maze of its street system. The latest plan, however, has been approved by the legislature and is now before the town council. It really begins to look as if Boston might eventually see this particular proposition through.

The proposed change would involve the widening of some of the streets it would follow, and the cutting through of some new strips of street to make a continuous, straight thoroughfare. It would provide a short cut through the district south of the Common and it would attract a large amount of traffic which now overflows the numerous narrow streets and lanes.

Boston still expects some day to rectify its streets, and any citizen will tell you just how it ought to do it. Meanwhile the crookedness of the thoroughfares is a byword, and a sort of trademark of the city.

A visitor can have all the exercise and excitement he wants simply trying to find the shortest route from a hotel to an office building. In some parts of the most congested shipping district, walking in a straight line is next to impossible, for the sidewalks are so jammed with would-be pedestrians that the only way to travel with any speed is to wriggle in and out among the slowly moving throng. Any one who becomes skilful at this business of wriggling can advance at least four blocks an hour and at the same time acquire a sunburn which comes in handy when dodging umbrellas and gasps or seems to notice the sacrifice.

Passing of the Accent

The best place to observe traffic at its slowest is on Washington street, where the narrow sidewalks are lined with lunch rooms, theaters, office buildings, and innumerable shops, from little crowded stalls, to big department stores. Anything which any Bostonian might want is to be found on this street, and presumably half the Bostonians are here all day, struggling always with dignity and tolerance, to find in their Boston bags so that they are directed to "turn to the right at Faneuil Hall," and "no bystander gasps or seems to notice the sacrifice."

A Crowded Street

The best place to observe traffic at its slowest is on Washington street, where the narrow sidewalks are lined with lunch rooms, theaters, office buildings, and innumerable shops, from little crowded stalls, to big department stores. Anything which any Bostonian might want is to be found on this street, and presumably half the Bostonians are here all day, struggling always with dignity and tolerance, to find in their Boston bags so that they are directed to "turn to the right at Faneuil Hall," and "no bystander gasps or seems to notice the sacrifice."

is that the other side always looks only half as thickly populated as the side you picked out to travel, and of course when you do cross over, the side you were on looks more desirable. After hopping back and forth a few times you conclude that the mug is about evenly divided.

The best course then seems to be to return to a side street where investigation is less interesting but more speedy, and where you either get lost in the maze of turnings or walk a few blocks only to come out on a blind alley. At this stage of the adventure only a policeman can solve the mystery and give you a fresh start toward the original goal.

The traffic police are one of Boston's most efficient institutions. After the police strike last winter, 400 of the old force remained loyal and the others 1,152 men gave up wearing white gloves in the daytime and retired from public life to become chauffeurs, lunch room proprietors, and watchmen on private property. In their places Boston has taken on 1,200 men, all but about 25 of them ex-service men. Most of them had been in action overseas.

The old force ran to heavy-weight, unbalanced, billy-swingers. The new recruits are largely little, young, and full of pep. It is said that the setting-up exercises which they take in the morning at headquarters would have finished the old guard for the day instead of putting them in trim for work.

The Ubiquitous Bag

A new traffic organization has been formed, and at busy crossings from one to four young traffic officers handle the streams of cars and passengers with brisk dispatch. From the stiff, jerky gestures of the hand and arm with which one of these officers directs traffic, it looks at first as if he had lost an arm and was using a wooden one. Closer study of the motions shows, however, that the mechanical stiffness accentuates the command in its gracefully curved gesture.

It has been recommended that the best way to feel at home in Boston is to learn to talk Bostonian, to carry a Boston bag, and to dust off your family tree for ready reference.

The language of Boston is not difficult to master, though a native of a distant state does usually have some trouble in learning to say "blunder" as he means it. It is discouraging when a desperate attempt at the broad "a" has to be repeated before it is understood.

The importance of a working knowledge of the Boston dialect is really lessening, possibly because the New England accent is being too rapidly diluted with other brogues. Thus, the official way of pronouncing "Tremont" street has always been with a short "e." In fact, the whole word should be dispatched as rapidly as possible. There have been street car conductors in Boston who would venture to correct any daring or ignorant passenger who referred to Tremont with a long "e." Yet now, numbers of people can be heard glibly using the long "e" unopposed.

A similar vanishing tradition is the pronunciation of "Faneuil." Old-time Boston talked about "Faul Hall," or occasionally "Fenell Hall," but now you are directed to "turn to the right at Faneuil Hall," and no "bystander gasps or seems to notice the sacrifice."
